

Markers/Inks for Use On Harnesses

The "Sharpie" brand of felt-tip marking pens from Sanford, Inc. uses a type of permanent ink that will not cause deterioration to nylon and polyester webbing. This is the only brand of marker that DuPont has tested and approved; if you have a marker other than Sharpie, please send the MSDS of the marker to our customer service department to be analyzed by DuPont. If you have any additional questions on the subject please feel free to call Technical Service 800/873-5242.

If you need another way to mark your harness, all Miller brand harnesses have a blank label in the back of the label pack to use for identification. Any permanent marker will work when using the blank label.
